ABSTRACT

Three separate bibliographies, dealing with disabled infants up to 3 years of age, list books, journal articles, research studies, manuals, and other publications regarding resources for parents, resources for parent educators, and materials on family support services. Sixty resources are listed for parents, including literature dealing with teaching children, parenting skills, and child care. The 157 references listed as resources for parent educators include coverage of parental influence, home intervention programs, family coping styles, and parent professional relationships. The 107 references listed as materials on family support services include literature regarding family and parental stress, counseling techniques, assessment and treatment of families, and family programs. Materials publication dates range from 1980 to 1987. (CB)
